Russell Aide's Passport Invalid

British and French authorities have been notified that the passport of Ralph Schoenman, the young Californian who is personal secretary to Bertrand Russell, has been ruled invalid.

Schoenman is a prime organizer of Lord Russell's campaign to hold a public war crimes trial in Europe to try President Johnson and other U.S. leaders for alleged criminal policy in Vietnam.

A State Department spokesman said yesterday that Schoenman, who is based in London, has been served notice that his passport has been ruled invalid because he made two trips to Communist North Vietnam without official authorization for that travel.
